 A well pleased audience spent two and a half hours at the Atlanta theater Monday night laughing at the mistakes and mixups in "Stop Thief," a farcical comedy written by Charlie Moore and played by nobody in particular. There was enough fun to last out the time, as it was sprinkled like alum in a boarding house plum pudding, but it had all been put into a sketch of half the length everyone would have profited.

"Stop Thief" is funny. There's no denying that. It hangs from the adventures of a kleptomaniac, a man who thinks he is a kleptomaniac, a thief who pretends to be a detective and two or three other folk, with a dozen lay figures on the stage to wade new scenes and furnish conversation when there's nothing else doing.

Two characters are the show. One is Albert Vanderville's William Carey, the best portrayal of an old man seen here in many moons. The other is Elmer Booth's thief, handled in a muggy way that keeps things moving rapidly when he is in the action.

The play is peculiar in that it is continuous in action, beginning at "say 10 a. m. and running until the end of the time, with never one of those "two weeks later" or "three months later" on the footnotes. It is true that two intermissions are provided to give a rest to the players and a chance at business to the soda fountain man. But the curtain rises on the same scene and the same situation as that upon which it had fallen.

If one hasn't anything particular on hand the evening might as well be spent with "Stop Thief" as anywhere. It will be here two more days, with a matinee Wednesday.

DIDDLEY GLASS.
 Seats are now selling at the Atlanta for the engagement of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw on Thursday. The party will be supported by a company of twenty-five in the musical divertissement "Maritimes" by Maurice Volny. There will be a popular period matinee every day during her engagement here.

A real and a song and a maiden fair, together with nothing more and nothing less follows four and a pair of playlets make up a worthy bill at the Forsyth this week, one that features no single headliner, but a whole lot of way through, with one possible exception.

It just goes to prove that the whole cheese is sometimes not half as tasty as a generous slice with hot butter and other garnishings to go with it. And most vaudeville audiences had rather be entertained from scratch to the tape than to linger along in the first stretch at a languid pace merely to watch a thrilling finish.

The seal in question winds up the bill with—well, not a punch, but a hearty flip. His name is Waldo, the seal, and he has the three Travella brothers and a diving tank on the stage with him. The antics of this seal out of the south-foi eyes are excruciatingly funny, and to be delightedly astonished one has to watch him eat a banana in full view of the house while someone snugly beneath his native element.

Rae Eleanor Ball, "vocal virtuoso," brings along the old favorites in grand opera selections and ballads that have stood the test of time, but she swings into them with good skill, and while she may not be a Kobbler, she has the old fiddlers licked when it comes to teaching the real time of the day.

"Hello, Bally" a rural comedy, has only two characters, and the stage spot the playlet for what it is, Johnnie Hopper, of Hoppers, and the remarkable St. Claire, of the chorus, in the old parable of the farmer and the mighty ray.

The other playlet is "The Second Generation," a comedy of craft, a political Irish house, "Oxford sons and Erin lips and eyes." These Four Entertainers offer what they characterize as a "harmonious blend of fun and music," while William Eggleston's horses and dogs will please you if you care for the animal stuff.

Augmented by a society chorus of sixteen young Atlantians, the Lyric Hackett company at the Lyric Monday evening scored the hit of the season with "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway."

The musical comedy made famous by George M. Cohan was acted with snap and spirit. The whole company, which for weeks has been giving performances of regular comedies and dramas, went into the musical and dancing roles as though they enjoyed it immensely.

The theater was packed. Seats were sold out long before the performance. It was society night, and society people, including a box party, members of the Hackett chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, were out in large numbers.

As Kid Burns, the famous Broadway character first acted by George M. Cohan, Norman Hackett was a revelation. With songs and dances, backed by the society chorus, Mr. Hackett's role of the Broadway boy was the hit of the evening.

While the members of the Hackett company did well in their roles, a few mistakes made by the society chorus were greeted with applause. One of the young women, who was out of step during the greater part of a dance, brought a gale of hand-clapping when she finally caught step with the rest of the dancers.

Those in the chorus are Misses Vivian Clyburn, Thelma W. W. Haddock, Helen Atkinson, Mabel Atkinson, Helen Wilson, Alberta Duff, and Virginia Parr. The young men are Bob Smith, Robert Burroughs, Ben Clyburn, Bill Vernier, Irwin Henderson, Frank Smith, H. Smith and Frank Tins.

Miss Ilika Marie Dichi made a most winsome Mary. Edwin Tait was excellent as Krohman, a lawyer.

VICE PRESIDENT OF PERU IN NEW YORK

May Take Place of President Billinghurst Who Was Recently Exiled

(By Associated Press.)
 NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Robert E. La Guardia, first vice president of Peru, arrived here today on the Carmaria from Lima, Peru, ostensibly to fill out the unexpected term of President Billinghurst, recently exiled.

Before sailing from England, Senator La Guardia said he expected to assume the office, but recent dispatches from Washington and Lima indicated that there was some doubt about it in view of the attitude of the Peruvian congress. A presidential election is to be held early in the summer.

BRITISH SUFFRAGE LEADER TO SPEAK AT DECATUR

Mrs. Anne Fletcher, of Otham, England, will deliver an address on "Woman Suffrage in England" before the DeKalb County Equal Suffrage association Tuesday afternoon at the court house in Decatur.

Mrs. Fletcher is prominently identified with the equal suffrage movement in England and her address will be most interesting.

Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association; Leonard Grossman and Mrs. Amelia Woodall, president of Atlanta Equal Suffrage association, will also deliver brief addresses at the meeting, which opens at 2 o'clock.

Residents of Fulton and DeKalb counties are invited to attend.

CASPAR MYERS ANSWERS CALL OF GRIM REAPER

Well Known Head of Myers Millinery Company Dies at Age of 65 Years

Mr. Caspar Myers, a prominent and well-known business man of Atlanta, died Monday night at 11:30 o'clock at his residence, 249 Washington street. He was sixty-five years old and for many years was engaged in the millinery business in Atlanta, being at the head of the Myers Millinery company. He belonged to several fraternal orders, among them being the Knights of Pythias and the BPOA. Irish, and he was also a member of the Standard club.

He was born in Pilsen, Germany, and his nearest surviving relative, besides his wife is a sister, Mrs. Pauline Simmons, who lives in Berlin, Germany.

The body of Mr. Myers will be taken to Augusta at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and funeral services will be held there Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY OBSERVED BY SCHOOLS

All the schools of the city celebrated Washington's birthday with appropriate exercises between 1 and 2 o'clock. Little red hatchets and twigs of the famous cherry tree were used to impress on the children the story of the father of his country who never told a lie.

Exclamations, discussions of his life and character, and reading of extracts from his writings formed the various programs.

Banks and government offices also observed the day by closing, as is usual on legal holidays.

GOV. SLATON'S REPLY TO HOWELL PUZZLES GEORGIA POLITICIANS

And did not pass through the reception room.

Also A. Lawrence, of Savannah, law partner of W. W. Osborne, and Roland J. McLean, were among the early callers at the capital, but they did not see the governor.

JORDAN'S REPLY

During the afternoon a big delegation of citizens from Columbus expected to see the governor in the interest of G. Gordon Jordan. They are coming on a special train, loaded with arguments and oratory to convince Mr. Slaton that the Columbus capitalist is the man for the place.

The possible bearing that the immediate appointment may have on future political alignments in the state was discussed as much, or more, than the several applicants. Governor Slaton figured in all of this speculative talk.

A Washington dispatch to the Savannah Morning News, purporting to report Senator Smith's position with reference to Georgia politics, attracted considerable attention, and was much discussed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.

Senator Hoke Smith and Representative Leo and Howard returned to Washington late last night. All three described the senatorial situation as completely "up in the air" so far as any forecast is concerned. Talk of the state had confused those who made predictions before they left Washington.

Chief friend of Senator Smith declared today that he will not have anything to do with the fight for Senator Bacon's seat or with the gubernatorial campaign. His campaign for reelection will not be based, they say, on factional politics but will be solely on his record as senator. None of the old issues will be revived, it is said, nor will he be a party to any factional line-up.

Those who have talked with Senator Smith do not believe either of the fights will be factional or along party lines. They say he will rely solely on his record in the senate and on the argument that two new senators would not be for the best interests of the state.

MR. HOWELL'S LETTER

Following is Mr. Howell's letter to Governor Slaton:

February 21, 1914.

Hon. John W. Slaton, Governor, Capitol Building, City.

My Dear Governor: Upon my return to Atlanta this morning after a ten days' absence from the state, I find many letters and telegrams urging me to allow the consideration of my resignation to the vacancy occasioned by the death of the late United States Senator Bacon. I am also in receipt of a large number of newspaper clippings indicating that the suggestion has been very generally discussed by the press, both in and out of the state.

While I appreciate the partiality of my friends as evidenced by the flattering expressions, I feel that a prompt and positive statement of my position is due you, as well as to myself.

While under the laws and policy of our government the senatorship is not superintended on a geographical basis, the present vacancy is due to the death of a distinguished son of south Georgia, and I believe everyone should be chosen from that section of the state.

In view of the personal relations existing between me and the state and party considerations, I am convinced that the best way to eliminate myself from the situation is to state that I am not prepared to proceed without thinking of me in connection with my appointment.

You have many loyal friends and the party has many able defenders in south Georgia, and you should have little difficulty in choosing a successor from that section of the state.

I would have written this letter sooner had I been asked to do so with the situation and been aware of the extent to which my name has been used in this connection.

Very truly yours,

CLARK HOWELL

Waycross Journal Indorses Vereen Editorially

Special Dispatch to The Journal.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Feb. 21.—The Waycross Daily Journal today said editorially:

The governor of Georgia has the opportunity to pay the business men of Georgia a just compliment, and at the same time give south Georgia that to which she is entitled by naming W. C. Vereen senator.

While Savannah is offering a name for the appointment, still people of Georgia have about come to the conclusion that the man must come from a large city in order to hold any big office of public trust. Such opinions would be shattered by the appointment of Vereen.

Ware county would be glad to see Vereen named.

The Moultrie candidate for the appointment has many warm friends through this section and Waycross people, in extending him, feel that not only south Georgia, but the entire state will be honored if he is named.

Friends of Judge Adams

In Savannah Get Busy

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 21.—The friends of Judge Samuel B. Adams, who want to see him made United States senator through appointment by the governor as short term man to succeed Senator Bacon, got very busy yesterday afternoon and last night and today the governor has been bombarded with telegrams asking for the appointment of Judge Adams.

If the judge gets the place it probably means the permanent retirement of Pratt Adams, his son, as a potential candidate for the senate. The friends of Judge Adams are in favor of the appointment of Judge Adams.

Forsyth Officials Want

Boileau Appointed

FORSYTH, Ga., Feb. 21.—In connection with the appointment by the governor of a United States senator for the short term, it has been discovered that a majority of those who have expressed an opinion are in favor of the naming of John T. Boileau.

The Morris county and city officials are in the main leaning towards the clerk of the Georgia house of representatives, who is the majority of those who are discussing the question on the street corners.

CROWD WATCHES FIREMEN BATTLE WITH SMOKE IN BASEMENT OF EMPIRE

Scene at corner of Broad and Marietta Monday afternoon when fire was discovered in basement of Fulton National bank, in Empire building.

Chief Cummings and Several Men Fall Victims of Smoke Fighting Bank Fire

The stationery supply room of the Fulton National bank which is in the basement of the Empire building underneath the bank, was gutted by fire Monday afternoon.

The damage was very slight. The origin of the fire is unknown. The bank was closed on account of Washington's birthday, and only one employee was present when the fire started. He noticed smoke coming up the stairway from the supply room into the bank and turned in the alarm. This was shortly after 3 o'clock.

The firemen had a stubborn fight. The only way to get down into the supply room was by way of a narrow winding stairway and up this stairway the smoke was boiling in a dense volume when they arrived. The supply room was pitch dark with smoke and was intensely hot.

Fire Chief Cummings and several of his men went downstairs and had to take stimulants and have water thrown over their faces to revive them.

So far as can be learned no valuable papers were burned, most of the contents of the supply room being stationery supplies, etc. The safety vaults adjoining the supply room, however, and for a few minutes there was some danger.

A huge crowd gathered in Broad and Marietta streets and it became necessary for the police to draw lines and keep them back, which prevented persons going in or out of the office in the Empire building.

Chief Cummings says the fire emphasizes the necessity for basements to be protected by automatic sprinklers.

"The fire in the McKenick building Sunday started in the basement, and we couldn't get down to fight it on account of the smoke," said the chief.

"This fire," while it was a much smaller fire, illustrates the difficulty of fighting fires in basements. Usually

ROTARIANS DINED BY WIVES AT WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY BANQUET

NEW FRANK CASE HEARING IS ASKED

FRANK ASKS COURT FOR REHEARING ON TWENTY-ONE POINTS

MRS. WHITE'S EVIDENCE.

Ground 16.—"Because the court, over objection of the defendant, made at the time the evidence was offered, that the same was irrelevant, immaterial and not binding on Frank, permitted the witness, Mrs. White, to testify that Arthur White, her husband, and Campbell are both connected with the pencil company, and that she never reported seeing the negro on April 24, 1912, which she testified she did see in the pencil factory to the city detective until May 7, 1912."

Ground 17.—"Because the court, over objection of the defendant, made at the time the evidence was offered, that it was illegal, immaterial and because it could not be binding on the defendant, the witness, L. L. Hoover, to testify that since April 24, 1912, he had been engaged in connection with this case, that he visits Mrs. Arthur White subsequent to April 24, that the first time the witness ever claimed to have seen the negro at the factory when she went into the factory on April 24 was some time after the 4th or 7th of May."

ATTACK ON SCOTT.

Ground 18.—"Because the court, over objection of the defendant, made at the time the testimony was given, that the same was irrelevant, immaterial and not binding on the defendant, that he did not get any information from anyone connected with the National Pencil company that the negro Conley could write, but that he got his information as to that from entirely outside sources and wholly disconnected with the National Pencil company."

Ground 19.—"Because the court permitted the witness, Harry Scott, to testify over the objection of defendant's counsel, made when the testimony was offered, that the same was irrelevant, immaterial, illegal and not binding on the defendant, that the witness first communicated Mrs. White's statements about seeing a negro on the street floor of the pencil factory on April 24, 1912, to Mack, Chief Landlord and Halsey House, that the information was given to the detectives on April 25."

MISS HALL'S TESTIMONY.

Ground 20.—"Because the court refused to allow the witness, Miss Hall, to testify that on the morning of April 24, and before the trial, she testified that she never reported seeing the negro, that she called her over the telephone, asking her to come to the pencil factory to do stenographic work, stating at the time he called her that he had so much work to do that it would take him until 5 o'clock to get it done."

"Defendant contends that this testimony was part of the case and ought to have been heard by the court, and failure to do so constituted error."

Ground 21.—"Because, while Mrs. Freeman was on the stand, after testifying as to other things, she testified that while she and Miss Hall, on April 24, were at the restaurant immediately contiguous to the pencil factory and after they had left the factory at 11:45 o'clock a. m., and had had lunch, that Lemmie Quinn came in and stated that he had just been up to see Mr. Frank, and that Mr. Frank was ruled out as hearsay."

"This statement of Lemmie Quinn was the objection of the defendant, made at the time the evidence was offered, that the same was irrelevant, immaterial and incompetent, to testify substantially as follows:—

"The clock at the pencil factory, when I worked there, needed setting about every twenty-four hours. You would have to change it from about three to five minutes, I reckon."

"Kendrick had not worked at the factory for months, and whether or not the clock was correct at that time was immaterial and tended to confuse the jury in their effort to determine whether or not the clock was accurate upon the date of the tragedy."

Ground 22.—"Because the court permitted the witness, Scott, to testify in behalf of his agency, over the objection of the defendant, that the same was irrelevant, immaterial and incompetent, substantially as follows:—

"I got hold of the information about Conley knowing how to write through my operatives that I had investigating while I was out of town. McWorth told me in person when I returned."

"This was prejudicial to the defendant, because the solicitor contended that the failure of Frank to report the fact that Conley could write was a circumstance against Frank's innocence, and he sought to show by the above testimony that the detectives were forced to get that information from some one other than Frank."

TESTIMONY OF GACKE.

Ground 23.—"Because the court permitted the witness, J. M. Gacke, over the objection of the defendant, when the evidence was offered, that the same was irrelevant, immaterial and illegal, to testify substantially as follows:—

"The clock of the pencil company was not accurate. They may vary all the way from three to five minutes in twenty-four hours."

Ground 24.—"Because the court permitted McWorth, at the instance of the solicitor general, to testify over the objection of the defendant, when the evidence was offered, that the same was irrelevant, immaterial and illegal, to testify substantially as follows:—

"I reported it [the finding of the clock] about seventeen hours afterwards. After I reported the finding, I had a further conference with the police about it. Four hours afterwards, I told John Mack about the envelope and the clock."

I turned the envelope and clock into the possession of H. B. Pierce."

"This was prejudicial to the defendant, because the solicitor general contended that his failure to sooner report the finding of the clock and the envelope to the police were circumstances against Frank. These detectives were not employed by Frank, but by Frank for the National Pencil company, and moving contents that he is not bound by what they did or failed to do. The court should have so instructed the jury."

PERMITTED MONTAG TO TESTIFY.

Ground 25.—"Because the court permitted, at the instance of the solicitor general, the witness, Sig Montag, to testify over the objection of the defendant, that the same was irrelevant, immaterial and incompetent, that the National Pencil company employed the Pinkertons; that the Pinkertons have not been paid, but have sent in their bills; that they sent them in two or three times; that, otherwise, no request has been made for payment, and that therefore, the Pinkerton agency has not asked the witness for payment."

"The introduction of this evidence was prejudicial to the defendant, for the reason that the solicitor contended that the pay due the Pinkertons by the Pencil company was withheld for the purpose of affecting the testimony of the agent of that company."

ADDITIONAL REPLY ASKED.

The four grounds upon which the defense asks for additional rulings follow:—

1. The alleged influencing of the jury by the defense in the courtroom during the trial, and cheering on the outside while the jury was being polled.

2. The introduction of the evidence in the case of the witness, J. M. Gacke, in which the high court held that because of this fact the defendant did not have a fair and impartial trial in the manner contemplated by law. Other cases cited are the Wolfolk case and the Smith vs. Lovejoy case. It being contended that the decision in the Frank case was contrary to such decisions in the three other cases cited.

3. The testimony of the witness Owens, who declared that he had known the English avenue car, upon which it was alleged Mary Pagan rode into the city on the day of the murder, to reach the center of the city two minutes ahead of time. It is pointed out in the motion for a rehearing that Owens' testimony deals wholly with transactions occurring after the murder. Whether the English avenue car, scheduled for around 12:15, got there on time or not is the issue."

4. The ruling of the supreme court in the effort that Conley having testified that Frank had remarked to him that he had overheard the watchman tell the other safe and get away with the $5,000 and $4,000, leaving the watchman tied to a post in the auditorium called a meeting for Thursday night at a cigar store adjoining the safe and stole a number of expensive pipes. The rulers left no clue.

remark made by the accused, according to Conley's testimony, was no evidence of any sexual act and was indeed no evidence of any transaction between the accused and deceased; that it could not be explained or made the basis for the evidence of other unnatural crimes as testified to by the witness Conley."

JUDGE ROAN'S REMARKS.

1. "Plaintiff in error shows that in the nineteenth hour the court recedes that where the order overruling the motion for a new trial contains nothing which could indicate that the judge was dissatisfied with the verdict or that he failed to exercise his discretion, the supreme court will not, in determining whether the judge has exercised such discretion, consider oral remarks by him, pending the disposition of the motion."

"Plaintiff in error contends that the remarks made by the judge, which form the basis of the ground under consideration, were not merely made pending the disposition of the motion for a new trial, but were part of the oral judgment delivered by the court, disposing of the motion. They were as much a part of the decision of the motion for a new trial as that part of the decision which denied the new trial, and it so appears in the bill of exceptions, and plaintiff in error contends that the court overlooked this feature of the record."

BALTIMORE, Feb. 24.—Three masked robbers entered the Academy of Fine Arts in North Howard street last night, overpowered the watchman and stole the safe and got away with the $5,000 and $4,000, leaving the watchman tied to a post in the auditorium called a meeting for Thursday night at a cigar store adjoining the safe and stole a number of expensive pipes. ### MRS. JOHN M. WADDILL IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. John M. Waddill, widow of the late Captain John M. Waddill, died Monday night at her residence, 105 Williams street. Four children, J. H. Waddill, of Haverhill, Ga.; Mrs. E. O. Kahn, of Boston; Charles T. Waddill, of Atlanta; and Miss Helen L. Waddill, survive her.

Her father was Moskin Townsend, and her mother was Rachel Pearson. Her great-grandfather was Moses Pearson, who was a captain in Colonel Ben-ton's regiment under Marion during the Revolutionary War.

She was greatly beloved by many friends in Atlanta, and took much interest in church work.

Funeral arrangements will be completed later.

Fake Vaccination At Dinner Causes Worry, Then Mirth

The Rotarians were enjoyable entertained Monday night at a George Washington banquet at the Ansley hotel, the wives of the members of the Rotary club acting as hostesses.

After the banquet an amateur vaudeville performance was given, everybody deriving much amusement from the various bits.

The most amusing part of the whole program, however, was the fake vaccination ordered by the wives of the Rotarians as a bluff for their husbands, Dr. Brewer, house physician at the Ansley, and two big policemen aided the entertainers in their joke. Just when merriment was at its height, the physician and the policemen entered and stated that they were going to vaccinate every person there, being instructed to do so by the board of health.

Fred Houser, who knew all about the joke, was the first chosen, and she readily submitted to a fake vaccination. Lee Harrell, the well known hotel man, was the next victim, but he resisted vigorously until informed that he would be taken to police station if he did not behave himself properly. Soon thereafter, the joke became known, and much laughter ensued.

Another amusing feature of the evening was the minutes of the last meeting, read by Mrs. Fred J. Paxon. They were interspersed with clever local bits and brought forth much mirth from beginning to end.

Much credit for the success of the banquet is due the committee on arrangements, Mrs. F. O. Foster, Mrs. Henry Gray and Mrs. Fred Houser. These ladies had the room beautifully decorated in matched colors and had provided unique souvenirs.

HAIR COMING OUT? GOT DANDRUFF OR DOES SCALP ITCH?—25-CENT DANDERINE

Save your hair! Make it soft, fluffy, lustrous and beautiful.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how long, faded, brittle and weary, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—you hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and air of true hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all! (Adv.)

A Tense Moment in Mexico.

The execution of a British subject by the rebel leader, Villa, has developed another tense moment in the Mexican situation; and this time, European governments are no less keenly concerned than the United States.

There is a tone of reassuring present in Parliament's discussion of the incident. Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, has emphasized the idea that the United States should not be considered responsible for Villa's act, and there is a manifest desire on the part of all in authority to move cautiously and to await a full knowledge of the facts.

Our own Government has ordered a searching investigation of the execution of the Englishman.
Should it develop that he was killed without due warrant or trial, steps would be taken for redress.

Since Great Britain has recognized the de facto government of Huerta, she would logically demand satisfaction from the dictator, though what measure of satisfaction he could give is not apparent. The first act of the United States will probably be a warning to the Constitutionalists that foreign interests must be respected. Whether that would have practical effect is by no means certain.

For the present, the entire situation is in suspense; its outcome may be serious, or it may "blow over," as has been the case in other recent crises.

It is at least anxious to know that cool heads are directing the policy of the United States, and of England, too.

A man who is good chiefly on the surface is no good.

Many a girl pretends to be just as proud of her big brother.

Ever notice how much easier it is to buy experience than it is to sell it?

Let's not waste our sympathy on the under dog
if he started the scrap.

Is the Liberal Party Weakening.

Recent by-elections in England have brought the Liberal party a succession of heavy losses, so many, indeed, that the keenest observers believe the country is wearying of the Lloyd George and Asquith policy, and that, given a clear opportunity, it will decisively reject them. When Parliament opened this month the House of Commons numbered two hundred and eighty-three Unionists, or conservatives, two hundred and sixty-three Liberals, eighty-three Irish Nationalists, and thirty-nine Laborites. It is only through coalition with the Nationalists and the Laborites that the Liberals maintain a working majority and carry forward their legislative program.

Deserted by their allies, they would be in the minority.

Hence the peculiar significance that is ascribed to their successive defeats in by-elections. Last week one of their candidates, who had been appointed to a ministerial post and who was seeking reelection to the Commons, lost his home "district," as we would say in America, to his Unionist opponent. One student of the situation aptly comments: "When an English constituency will put aside the advantage of having a ministerial representative, it has made up its mind to give the most striking evidence it can of a change of heart."

The fact remains, however, that for the immediate future at least the Liberals control the House of Commons through the support they receive from the Nationalists and the Labor party. They have pressed to enactment many measures that profoundly affect the country's social and economic interests, and have done so in the teeth of desperate opposition. They have weathered two general elections in which the reforms they have espoused were directly at issue.

They have been sustained on important policies, such as the reform of the House of Lords, the tax question, the tariff and even Irish home rule.

It seems, then, that despite reverses at by-elections, the Liberals will retain control of the government long enough to complete their program, unless there should come an unforeseen revolution in the nation's political thought.

Taxing the Nation for a Monopoly.

It is easy to understand why the coastwise shipping monopoly should be so desperately against the repeal of the free-tons provision.
That provision will put more than a million dollars a year into the pockets of the monopoly.
This one million dollars in turn will come out of the pockets of the American people, who will have to pay out of their National Treasury every cent of the deficit on the operation of the canal.

Thus the New York World tersely sums up the broadly practical argument against the exemption of American coastwise vessels from Panama canal tolls. Free tolls for these ships would be merely an other form of high tariff patronage, an evil and injustice against which the Democratic party traditionally stands and which it is pledged to correct. Exorbitant tariffs were maintained for the benefit of special interests, at the expense of the people generally; free tolls would operate, in like manner, for the benefit of a shipping monopoly at the expense of the rank and file of taxpayers.

Someone must pay for the upkeep of the canal.
On an equitable basis everyone who uses the canal should pay his due share. Foreign vessels will be required to pay. There can be no just exemption in favor of coastwise, or domestic, ships. If there should be, however, the resultant deficit would be charged to the nation and would have to be paid out of the nation's funds, that is to say, out of the public's money. The people are scarcely ready to tax themselves in order that a special privilege may be granted a shipping monopoly.

Coastwise vessels need no such protection. They are already buttressed against foreign competition in their particular sphere of commerce. They enjoy an exclusive right of shipping between two or more ports of the United States. It is preposterous that this great monopoly should insist upon aid from the Government in the form of exemption from canal tolls.
Regardless of the country's treaty with Great Britain, which guarantees equality to the vessels of all nations in respect to canal tolls, the act of Congress which discriminates in favor of coastwise ships should be repealed simply because of its unfairness to the American people.

And, happily, there is every indication that it will be repealed without delay.

The woman with beef trust ankles might at least

Some men want the earth if it's under their water.

Goddess of the Cornucopia Pipe.

Never let Missouri languish for fame so long as there are hour dogs or cornucopia pipes, and as matters now lie, the cob seems her greater glory. In the Red Book of the State's bureau of labor statistics, is proudly writ down the fact that fifteen million cornucopia pipes, all within a twelve-month, and that the annual earnings of this cheerful industry exceed five hundred thousand dollars.

But who that is minded of life's higher ends will consider merely the lure in Missouri's great pipe output? More impressive is the statement that these doughty cobs found their way by thousands and ten-thousands to Canada, Europe, Asia, South America, Africa, Australia and New Zealand, not to mention the vast number distributed throughout the Union.
Thus may we catch through the mind's nose the incense of Missouri's renown, wreathing the planet in grateful puffs.

Let other States sing of their vineyards and orchards, their herds and flocks and potatoes or even their pigs; Missouri may waive all other claims to greatness and stand pre-eminent on her mountain of cornucopia pipes. The vestal virgin of earth's smoking democracy, is she—the discreet and frugal goddess of those virile souls who take their tobacco in its most pulsant form.

Less than fifty national banks have remained out

So—Lay late, and slumbered the best in six weeks.
To the office all the afternoon, and my writing, and with great rest, too. Yet why this I can not tell.
No not at all. With Henry Harrison the lay-writer to dinner, and we discussed of letters and of journalism, too, and his notions on both are true and fine.
Thence to my office again, where, what with writing and talking with the printing-men, I did not leave till late.

REAL GREATNESS

BY DR. FRANK CHANCE.

For you can distinguish a great man from a small man in this, that when he is introduced as a "great man,"
"Greatness often comes from accident or favor, and if this lifts us above the multitude it should carry with it the realization of greater responsibilities on our part toward others."

And herein Mr. Schiff showed one trait at least of a great man, and said a great thing.
For you can distinguish a great man from a small man
in this, that when he is introduced as a "great man,"
"Greatness often comes from accident or favor, and if this lifts us above the multitude it should carry with it the realization of greater responsibilities on our part toward others."

No pleasure soul really thinks he is superior. Success "comes" to us. No man earns it; or, rather, the one who earns it is denied it as often as not.
Oliver Wendell Holmes said that all ideas "came" to him, striking him like a bullet, as he expressed it.

Every creative mind has felt this. How things "just come." The composer of music.
The sculptor, the novelist, dramatist and orator, the inventor, all have had that sense of reciprocity. Only the egoistic fool thinks he is the author of his own conceptions.

So once had his "daimon" that whispered to him suggestions. And every other great constructive soul has had that peculiar feeling of being played upon by some force or spirit not of himself.

Only the soul that is humble and clean, and greedy for praise, whether they deserve it or not. These are the plagiarists, copiers, and second-raters of the world.
The same is true of the greatly rich. For there are some who will spend it in luxuries and amusements.
Under existing economic conditions a man may inherit a million dollars. In proportion as he regards it as "mine, to do with as I please," he is small.

But if he realizes that destiny, under its laws, has put the wealth upon him for the use of his own, and that the high and serious task of administering it for the welfare of mankind is laid on his shoulders, then he becomes great.

OCCUPATIONAL DISEASES

IV.—LEAD POISONING.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Printers, painters and workers in pottery, the worke and porcelain enamelled surface were frequently those of the laboring masses most affected by lead poisoning. They number into the thousands and are scattered in all parts of the world. Some of the ills they bear are due to their own carelessness, but as a rule their suffering and death spring primarily from the environment of their work. Wherever the trades enumerated follow their calling lead poisoning is prevalent, but investigations by our own government's officials prove that such conditions in this country are much more than they are in some other countries, particularly in England and Germany.

In 1912 and 1913 Alice Hamilton, M. A., M. D., looked into the trades enumerated to lead poisoning as a special expert agent of the United States Bureau of Labor. She gathered statistics pertinent to hundreds of painters, in all angles of the trade, and in assembling data in England, Italy, France and Germany. Her investigation involved an examination of sloughright pottery in factories located in nine different states, and of 2,100 men and 400 women. "Trifles were dealt with in one of the articles of this series which contained a list of the names of the painters and the names of the factories in which they were employed. In a subsequent article, today's letter tells its basis in Dr. Hamilton's report on lead poisoning in pottery, the worst of the public health menace among the trades.

Four industries are to be considered, and they fall naturally into two divisions. The first division comprises the trades enumerated to lead poisoning as a special expert agent of the United States Bureau of Labor. She gathered statistics pertinent to hundreds of painters, in all angles of the trade, and in assembling data in England, Italy, France and Germany. Her investigation involved an examination of sloughright pottery in factories located in nine different states, and of 2,100 men and 400 women. "Trifles
were dealt with in one of the articles of this series which contained a list of the names of the painters
and the names of the factories in which they were employed. In a subsequent article, today's letter tells its basis in Dr. Hamilton's report on lead poisoning in pottery, the worst of the public health menace among the trades.

Dr. Hamilton visited forty white ware pottery seventy yellow ware pottery, eleven tile works and three enamel works. In N. J., and East Liverpool, O., are the principal centers for the manufacture of white ware. Yellow ware is rapidly going out of date, but there are factories in and around Zanesville, O. This city also is the center for art and utility ware. The factories were inspected in Trenton, N. J.; New York, N. Y.; Newport, R. I.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Chicago, Ill.; and Zanesville, O.
In addition, there were also in and around Pittsburg, Chicago, Louisville, Chattanooga, Trenton, Sheboygan, Wis., and several small towns in Ohio.

In the industries of the first named group of three men and women are exposed to the dangers of lead poisoning, but in the yellow ware workmen are employed. In the first three industries the processes involved a risk of lead poisoning are: (1) mixing the glaze, done by men; (2) dipping the ware in the glaze or applying the glaze by other ways, done by both men and women; (3) dipping the ware in the glaze, done by men; (4) dipping the ware in the glaze, done by men; (5) dipping the ware in the

REVOLVER SHOTS SAVE SLEEPERS FROM FIRE

Occupants of Cooper Street Dwellings Flee From Flames
in Night Clothes

The discovery by passers-by who gave the alarm with revolver shots, destroyed the home of B. A. Cole, 212 Cooper street, at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, and badly damaged George Thomas' home at 214.

The flames began from some unknown cause in the Cole's kitchen. A party of late revolvers, walking down Cooper street, saw the fire and smoke. One man in the crowd pulled a revolver and fired five shots.

This awoke Mr. and Mrs. Cole. With their four little children, all in their night clothes, they dashed out of the burning house into the cold, and sought refuge in the home of a neighbor.

Mr. Phelps and his two daughters, aged twelve and fourteen, had time to dress before fleeing to the house. The flames from the Cole house caught their home, but the arrival of the fire apparatus saved the house from being destroyed.

The total damage was estimated at $100. Neighbors, headed by E. W. Brooks, of 299 Cooper avenue, are raising a subscription fund for the Cole's, who lost everything in the fire.

MINE OWNER IN MEXICO INDORSES WILSON'S POLICY

John C. Rochester Thinks the President's Attitude Is Based on Sound Judgment

John C. Rochester, vice president and general manager of Franklin Manufacturing company, Franklin, Pa., and president and general manager of the Toca Mining company, of New York City, with mines at Toca and Durango, Mexico, is at the Georgian Terrace for a few days following a recent trip to his mines in the rebellion-torn republic. Mr. Rochester sees some improvement in the Mexican situation and declares he believes the matter has been admirably handled by President Woodrow Wilson.

The danger to Americans and others foreign to the country is not nearly so great as it is painted," said Mr. Rochester. He has recently been on the ground visiting his mines at Toca and Durango, where he says there has been no interference from either of the political factions.

Rochester, N. Y., got his name from Mr. Rochester's grandfather. Mr. Rochester leaves Atlanta Tuesday afternoon for Mexico and later will go back east.

BAN OFF "KITCHEN SINK" AND OTHER NED DANCES

Tangoes, Flops and Hops All Go at Ball of A. O. G. at Kimball House

"Do you tango? Do you hop? Do you flop the kitchen sink?" These were the questions which were asked of the members of the A. O. G. at the ball given at the Kimball house last night.

The dance was given by the A. O. G. and was a success. The dancing was of the latest style and the music was excellent. The refreshments were also of a high class.

BOY OF TWELVE SHOTS HIS FATHER TO DEATH

TRIO, Ala., Feb. 24.—James Herndon, aged thirty-five years, was shot and killed Tuesday morning by his son, Herbert Herndon, aged twelve years. The father was quarreling with his wife and struck her. The boy grabbed a rifle and pointed it at his father, asking his mother if he should shoot. The mother said no, and the father attempted to wrench the gun from the boy's hand. The boy then pulled the trigger and the gun was discharged accidentally during the scuffle. The load struck Herndon below the heart, causing death in a short time. No arrests have been made.

Mr. and Mrs. Little's Guests at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little will entertain at a dinner party Tuesday evening at their home on Peachtree street, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Watson, Jr. of New York City who are stopping at the Georgian Terrace until Friday when they will go to Augusta.

Covers will be laid for Mr. and Mrs. Watson, Governor and Mrs. John Marshall, Miss Lena Doolittle, Mr. and Mrs. John Grant and Mr. F. P. Dumble. Following dinner the party will occupy boxes at the Grand theater to witness the performance of the drama as presented by members of the Players' club.

To Miss Hall

Miss Carolyn King will entertain at a matinee party Thursday afternoon, at the Lyric theater, in compliment to Miss Annie Hall, of Columbus, who is being delightfully entertained as the guest of Miss Hattie Orr. After the matinee the guests will have tea at the hotel.

To Miss Ellis

An event of Saturday afternoon will be the tea dance at which Mrs. Hugh Davidson will entertain at her home on West Peachtree street, in honor of Miss Adele Ellis, an attractive debutante of the season.

To Mrs. Samuel McKinney

Among the informal events planned in honor of Mrs. Samuel McKinney, of Louisville, Tenn., was the small tea at which Mrs. George M. Batten entertained Tuesday afternoon. Miss Adele Ellis, a few intimate friends and a few members of the family connection were present. Bright yellow daffodils adorned the room and were used as an effective centerpiece on the tea table.

The invited guests were Mrs. J. J. Gaudin, who is Mrs. McKinney's hostess, Mrs. John W. Grant, Mrs. J. J. Gaudin, Miss Marion Van Dyke, Mrs. James Aker, Mrs. M. L. Troutman, Mrs. Bernard Wolff, Mrs. Arthur King, of Bristol, Mr. Edward H. Inman and Mrs. George Boush.

Miss Smith's Guests at Bridge Tea

Miss Evelyn Smith was hostess at a bridge tea Tuesday afternoon at her home on Peachtree street, in compliment to Miss Annie Hall, of Columbus. The guests included Miss Hattie Orr and Miss Marion Phinley, of Augusta, the guest of Mrs. Albert Howell.

The home was decorated with a profusion of long-stemmed, variegated spring flowers. After the game the guests assembled in the parlor, where tea was served, the centerpiece of the table being a platoon of jonquills and ferns.

Miss Smith was dressed in an imported model of black velvet and her carriage was of Parisian violet. The guests included, Miss Hall, Miss Shirley, Miss Orr, Miss Katherine Ellis, Miss Caroline Muse, Miss Adele Ellis, Miss Mildred Harman, Miss Dorothy Harman, Miss Marian Alchison, Miss Harriet Gibson, Miss Carolyn King, Miss Nan Dugimon, Miss Katherine Richardson, Miss Jessie McKee, Miss Emmaline Amos, Miss Margaret Northen, Miss Lola Dean Jones, Miss Shirley Hill, Hopkins, Miss Helen Dargan, Miss Mary Helen Moody, Miss Virginia Brown and Miss Ruth Stallard.

After the game Miss Marion Goldstein, Miss May Alchison, Miss Jeanette Lowndes, and Miss Naomi Andrews, of New York City, came in for tea.

To Mr. Street

Mr. Palmer Johnson was host Monday evening at his home in Inman park at a farewell party in compliment to Mr. George Street, who will leave at an early date to make his home in New Orleans, La.

The guests assembled in Mr. Johnson's den, which was illuminated by a number of unique and Oriental lamps collected by the host during his travels abroad. A chess set, for which Mr. Johnson is famed, was served, the host acting as chief. Miniature suit cases, containing articles useful on a journey, were given to each guest as a souvenir.

The invited guests were a number of Mr. Street's friends: Miss Frances Conally, Miss Carolyn King, Miss Lillian Logan, Miss Mary Black, Miss Lola Dean Jones, Miss Anne Low Paget, Mr. and Mrs. James Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harrington, Mr. Julian Thomas, Mr. Moultrie Pitt, Mr. Remon King, Mr. Tyler Waller, Mr. Frank Stratton, Mr. Beverly Dabney, Mr. Charles Halsey McQueen, Mr. Charles Pottinger and Mr. Frank Johnson, Jr.

To Mrs. Bates

Mrs. Darwin G. Jones entertained informally at a 4 o'clock tea Tuesday afternoon at her home on Linden street in honor of her guest, Mrs. Albert Harlan Bates, of Cleveland, Ohio.

The drawing room, reception hall and parlor were effectively decorated with delicate yellow tulips and ferns, and the dining room pink was the color scheme, and Killarney roses formed the decoration.

Mrs. Jones received her guests wearing a gown of Copenhagen blue crepe and Mrs. Bates was wearing a black and white shadow lace.

Mrs. Jones was assisted in the entertainment of her guests by Mrs. Frank West, Mrs. George Traillor, Mrs. Chase Howard and Mrs. Frank O. Foster.

VISITORS FROM WISCONSIN

Mrs. O. R. Randall, of Racine, Wis., and children, Marjorie, Richard, Ruth and Emily Jane, who are spending some time with relatives and friends in Lenoir.

Silver Tea

The public is invited to a silver tea at which the Ladies Aid society of the West Side church will entertain Tuesday evening, February 24.

Take West Hunter to Ashby street car, and get off at Mason and Turner avenue.

Golgithy-Griffin Wedding Plans

The wedding of Miss Lottie Golphthy and Mr. David Griffin will be an event of Wednesday evening at the First Methodist church in Palmetto, and will be attended by a number of guests from Atlanta. The attendants will be Miss Lucille Smith, maid of honor, and Mrs. Dorothy Bullard, matron of honor. The four little flower girls will be Evelyn and Katherine Smith, Dorothy Duke and Martha Winn. Mr. Duane Bullard will be best man, and the groomsmen will include Mr. Persons, Mr. Carter, Mr. Smith, Mr. Mark Hardin and Mr. Ralph Bullard. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bullard.

Lashley-Andrews

The marriage is announced of Miss Bertha Andrews and Mr. R. W. Lashley, of East Point, which was solemnized Sunday evening at the close of the service at the Oakland City Methodist church. Rev. Mr. M. L. Underwood officiated.

Cheyney-Pullen

ARLINGTON.—The wedding of Miss Annie Pullen and Mr. Hugh Cheyney was an event of Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, Mr. G. M. Pullen, in Arlington.

Rev. Charles G. Earnest performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends.

CLEVELAND CAPITALISTS ARE TO VISIT ATLANTA

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 24.—A party of twenty-two prominent business men and capitalists of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived here today upon a commercial excursion of the south. The party is traveling under the direction of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce and under the personal supervision of Samuel H. Mason, secretary of the body.

The visitors will leave tonight for Atlanta, after visiting Chickasaw, Park, Lookout Mountain and other points of historic interest.

Comedy by Players' Club Event Of Evening at the Grand

An event of Tuesday evening around which centers much interest will be the presentation of "The Gansu," by the members of the Players' club at the Grand. The cast is excellent and some of the best amateur talent of the city.

The club numbers among its membership individuals possessed of dramatic ability in a marked degree, for several of whom a brilliant future has been predicted by competent authorities if they adopted the stage as a profession.

The annual play is always a pleasantly anticipated occasion and assembles a large and enthusiastic audience.

The proceeds from the play will be devoted to a most worthy charity, and for this cause the seats have been put on sale at a much lower price than ever before so that all interested may attend. Many supper parties will follow the play at the clubs when audiences and mon-

Rival Syndicates Are Bidding for Stock in Chicago Cubs

DAY BY DAY WITH THE DEYS

Two Bids Made For Purchase of Chicago Cubs

Chicago Syndicates Rivals in Bidding for the Holdings of Charles P. Taft in Club Franchise—One Offer of $700,000 for 51 Per Cent of Club Stock

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Two syndicates of Chicago business men are rivals in bidding for the control of the Chicago National League club, the baseball organization now owned principally by Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, since he took over the interests of Charles W. Murphy Saturday night.

A bid of $700,000 for Mr. Taft's stock by a coterie of "Cub fans" was made yesterday and was reached through representative, Lewis J. Bohan, that Mr. Taft would sell them consideration with the other bidders, so a committee of three of them will go to Cincinnati today to see him.

The Bohan bid was distinct from the proposition made by the syndicate headed by William Hale Thompson, who asked that Mr. Taft submit a price for his holdings.

Manager Tinker, of the Chicago Federals, announced tonight his team and the St. Louis Federals would play their first practice game at Shreveport March 14 and 15. The St. Louis team is that of Monroe, La., near the Chicago training camp.

O'Day Will Stick

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Henry O'Day, the veteran umpire, who has been named as manager of the Chicago National League baseball team, announced tonight he will stay in his position during the coming season. The following telegram from the secretary in charge of the club, dated at Tampa, Fla., according to information received here today:

"Mr. Taft instructs me to say that you are to continue as if nothing had happened."

Many rumors concerning the management of the Cubs had been heard since the sale of the club last Saturday. One of the rumors was to the effect that a new manager would be appointed to succeed O'Day, although the latter would be paid the salary stipulated in the contract signed with Murphy.

Manager Finn Has Signed 32

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 24.—An announcement was made here today that Manager Mike Finn, of the local Southern League team, practically has completed the signing of players for the 1914 season. Thirty-two men have been contracted and will be given try-outs within the next few days.

Those signed are: Catchers Reidel, McMillan, Gibson, Luff, Duncanson, Mullen, Stanley, McDermott, Starks, Farmer, Outland, Schmitt, Goulet, Love, Jaggan, Coyne, Dwyer, Pichers, G. Merritt, Liebhardt, Hawkins, Smith, Scott, McMillan, Johnson, Moore, Morrison and Ross.

Unengaged catchers Hemis and Lavigne, pitchers H. Merritt, Harrell and Herche.

Billy Murray Beat Veteran Leo Houck

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Billy Murray, of Sacramento, defeated the veteran middleweight, Leo Houck, of Philadelphia, today in the fourteenth round of what was to have been a twenty-round bout. Houck stood helpless in his own corner, and the referee stepped in and saved him by a stoppage.

Murray was the victor by a unanimous decision, and the referee, who was a knock-out, actually the result counts as a knock-out.

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

LINES TO A LADY.

Lady, yes, indeed; I know it: I should not have acted so; Yet blame not the simple poet Who knew not the wind would blow it Then—oh, well, I won't start shocking Such on earth, awful blood.

When I saw thee weakly striving With the spirit of thy dress; Didst thou think of thus depriving Me of aiding in my quest?

With a lady in distress?

Yet I tried, before you quit me, Blushing to shift my view; But the wind would not permit me, And I felt it, as it hit me, Simply blow my eyes on you.

The arrival of the Athletics at this stage is a good bit like tossing a rose into a lively stable. The fragrance is appreciated, even if it's only a breath.

THE SEASON-KILLER CASE.

Owner Baker of the Phillies is in what you might term a capital L of a fix. Killifer signed with the Peds and then jumped over to the Phillies. Boston, Mr. Baker claims, agreed on terms with the Phillies and then jumped to the Peds. Now both parties are taking both cases into court. If owner Baker wins the season controversy he is dead sure to lose Killifer. If the Peds lose Killifer they gain Seaton. However it turns out, the Peds get one good ball player and Mr. Baker loses one. When the best you can get is a swift kick on the shin, the times are sadly out of joint. Also, more likely, the shin.

WHAT IS A BIG LEAGUE, ANYWAY?

"Do you figure the Peds a big league?" Dave Fultz asked Joe Tinker at their late meeting.

"We may pay big league salaries to big league players in big league towns," replied Tinker. "Does that make a big league or not?"

"Do you figure," queried Dave, "that you have any club as strong as the Athletics or Giants?"

"No," said Tinker, "but we've got 'em stronger than the Browns, Reds or Cardinals."

And there you are—if you know where that is.

AND WELL THROW IN A $4 HAT.

Mr. Murphy, referring to Ben Johnson in a number of blankety-blank, etc., opinions, offered a $50 suit of clothes to any historian who would get his unexpurgated remarks into the paper.

Along similar lines will present Mr. Murphy with a $150 suit and overcoat for the privilege of running him off the top of the Woolworth building—or even from the Forty-eighth story.

TIP TO YOUNG ATHLETES.

In looking around this season, The Peds are the easiest job. For you won't have to bat against Johnson.

Or pitch against Baker and Cobb.

Connie says he wouldn't give a nickel for Cobb. For that matter he didn't pay much for a dime for Collins, Baker, Barry and McInnis. If he perfects his system much further Connie will soon have ball players playing for the privilege of joining his club.

"Why don't you ever say something interesting in your column about basketball?" asks H. P. T. You say it and we'll print it. And without charging a cent for the space.

ONE OF THOSE "CONVERSATIONS."

First Pan—"Well, you gotta look out for them Peds this year; some league, believe me."

Second Pan—"You said more'n a lot; some league, ain't startin' to say it."

First Pan—"Still, the old league is good enough for me; I don't see no Murrys, or Johnnies or Bakers or Cobbs with them Peds. The class ain't there."

Second Pan—"That's the big kick; no class to 'em; one or two pretty guys, but no killers; neither." "Do you sit up and look around."

First Pan—"Still this nigger's a grand ball player—and Seaton; and pretty pitcher this Hendrix, too; you gotta sit up and 'em after all."

Second Pan—"Slip it to 'em is right; you gotta do it; class to them guys all the time."

The odds are that Col. Haughton, of Harvard, would not boost the advantages of the kicking game so stoutly with a Fed college around offering the proper inducements to a Mr. Brickley and a Mr. Mahan. Pretty soft for college coaches in comparison to his league owners.

Still, we know a couple of Fed colleges who will go and get 'em wherever they are left loose or uncovered, but at the most they can only use clever or twelve in any one haul.

"England expects to finish well up in the next Olympic games," writes a London expert. Echo from St. Louis: "Cardinals confident of finishing third."

FULLERTON'S GOSSIP

By way of variety George Sutton and Willie Hoppo are going to play a hilliard match. (Repeat ad infinitum.)

They might as well scratch Brinkley on the nose and give the trophy to Harvard's most valuable football player while they are having it made.

The scribbles made a lot of fun of the French because they could not understand baseball. Having seen the box score of the game at Nice, we sympathize with the French. We can't understand that kind of baseball either.

Red Doan, having announced he isn't sure whether or not Mike Doan jumps to the Peds, we conclude that Doan has inside information that Mike already has jumped.

Manager Hank O'Leary has started the Chicago club pennant by fixing a two-cent hotel for the team.

Now that Press Williams has been ruled by Jim Sullivan and told he must run the general academy on an after-haunt administration, poor fellow, he's a administration poor.

Somehow or other the only times we feel like putting absolute trust in the statements of baseball managers is when they start calling each other names.

Gannon Meets Eddie Hanlon

Mike Gannon, the tough Pittsburgh welterweight, and Eddie Hanlon, the local boy, are to have another chance to settle the question of which is the better boy Wednesday night, when they clash in a scheduled ten-round bout at the Columbia theatre.

This is the third meeting between the pair, each boy holding one victory. Gannon and Hanlon met at Harry Blanton's club a few weeks ago. Eddie winning in the third round of a three-scrap when Mickey broke his left hand. Ever since that bout Mickey has been hot after Eddie for a return go, and finally landed the pull last night when the matchmaker, of the Columbia theatre had the two boys put their signatures to a set of articles.

Mickey's left hand is as good as ever and he will have no excuse to offer if defeated. On the other hand, Hanlon is also in great shape and the two boys should put up the best scrap of the season.

Two other corking bouts are also on the card, making twenty rounds of boxing in all. "Battling" Kelly, one of the most promising youngsters seen around here in some time, has been secured to meet Kid York, who is a local featherweight, for six rounds, and this bout should prove nearly as good a scrap as the windup.

The opening hour of the evening will be a four-rounder between Kid Duke and Battling Shepherd.

Mackmen Start Boys Form New School League For Jacksonville

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—The first contingent of the Philadelphia Athletics left here today for Jacksonville, Fla., where the world's champions will go through spring training.

The party was headed by the veteran Harry Davis and included Players Sturgis, Bush, McAvoy, Penneck, Wyckoff, Brown, Shawkey, Brezner, Carthers, Kopf, Karst, Salmon, Briskley and Boardman. The trip south is being made by boat, the party taking the steamer Lenox of New York direct to Jacksonville.

Manager Connie Mack, Eddie Plank, Bender and several others will leave here tomorrow by train. Regular infielders and outfielders will leave for Jacksonville March 7.

The Philadelphia Nationals expect to leave late today for Wilmington, N. C.

SPRING TRAINING TRIPS BIG JOKE OF BASEBALL

BY RICHARD S. FULLERTON.

Spring training of baseball teams has commenced. Nearly half of the major league teams already are in the field. The others are gathering to hurry southward for the annual display of foolishness.

Nothing in baseball shows the era of the press agent, as opposed to playing real baseball, as well as spring training does. The idea is not to develop players, or train them, but to get a column or more a day in each newspaper on the theory that advertisement is the annual joke of the game, and they are largely responsible for the poorer quality of baseball dished out to the fans.

There is no argument against a manager taking young recruits down south in mid-February. It does not do to train the players, but to find out what kind of players they are, so that he will not be compelled to waste time on them when time for real training comes. It is rather hard on the recruits, even if a youngster is fair and promising, he will be far below his proper form when the season starts.

But taking a squad of veteran players south eight weeks before the season starts is reckless foolishness on the part of any owner who has pennant aspirations.

In twenty years of going south with major league baseball teams I never have seen a team that was not in better condition at the end of two weeks' training than it was when it started. A seasoned ball player will get of training than it was when it started. A seasoned ball player will get of training than it was when it started.

At the end of ten days or two weeks will be in nearly top condition to play baseball. Then, satisfied with his own condition, he has a pleasure trip of five or six weeks in the south, working as little as possible. Then, south and used to hot weather, he comes north and spends a month getting cold in muscles and playing in miserable weather.

Some day some wise manager will wait until about March 25, take his team down to the middle south for two weeks of real work and then get his new recruits to the south. He can do it. He can do it. He can do it.

By sending his players down the week or ten days ahead of the season, he is only making a fool of himself.

Soldiers Meet In Unique Race

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Federal soldiers and militiamen to the number of 392, each man in fatigue uniform and carrying rifle, bayonet and submachine gun, today engaged in an unusual 51-mile race here.

They started at Times Square and raced through Fort Second street, down Fifth avenue and Broadway, through the East Side and across the Manhattan bridge into Brooklyn, where they ended their run in the thirtieth regiment armory. Brigadier General Elmore F. Austin, commanding the coast artillery of New York state, was the starting official.

It was an endurance run, with a test of stamina and speed between the national guardmen and the government regulars, and the volunteers were there were seventy-four teams of eight men each, representing army, navy, United States marine corps, New York national militia, New York National Guard, New Jersey national militia, Maryland National Guard and New York and New York and holiday visitors crowded the sidewalks to view the race, run over slippery pavements as the low temperature of the day.

The first New York National Guard regiment to finish the race was the first New York National Guard regiment to finish the race, run over slippery pavements as the low temperature of the day.
